

NATURAL HISTORY AND RECREATION IN THE CUYAHOGA RIVER WATERSHED

BIOL:495-003.
F : 3:00-4:00 PM
FALL 2025

DR.LARA ROKETENETZ(BIOLOGY)
JON DENT(OUTDOOR ADVENTURE)

Join the University of Akron Field Station and Student Recreation and Wellness to explore the Cuyahoga River watershed through biology and recreation. This class will consist of weekly on-campus meetings to learn about the Natural History of the crooked river that shapes both urban and natural landscapes in Akron and beyond. We will then use a variety of recreation techniques such as hiking, rock climbing, canoeing, kayaking, paddleboarding, and/or biking to connect to the Cuyahoga River and Lake Erie. Adventures will take place on Saturdays throughout the semester. Students must be available to attend at least 4 out of six planned sessions on the weekends.

DR. CHRISTIN SEHER (EX[L] CENTER)
ALISON DOEHRING (ZIPASSIST)
MEGAN DELONG (EX[L] CENTER)

This [Un]class introduces students to the concept of Creative Placemaking, a process that aims to create vibrant, accessible public spaces through conscious design decisions. With a specific lens on placemaking in Akron, students will learn from local artists, nonprofit leaders, and foundations about initiatives in our city and apply those concepts to campus spaces. The class will produce recommendations in the form of a Campus Beautification Audit. Help us identify the places where campus can use a makeover!

DR. NOFZIGER (INSTRUCTOR)

Ever wonder why some social programs or business policies succeed while others fail? Want to learn how to measure real-world impact? In this hands-on course, we will be working with the Akron Mayor's office on the program evaluation of the "VIP" (Violence Intervention and Prevention) Strategic Plan. We will learn the fundamentals of program evaluation and identify projects that will benefit and inform youth violence and victimization prevention and intervention in the Akron community. This Program Evaluation [Un]class is open to any major; no stats or methods experience necessary!
