New Business:

LMS

- Sheau received an email from Wendy Lampner on the 12 steps her group took the last time the LMS was renewed. Sheau put a copy of the email in our Teams folder.
- Discussion consensus was to
 - o find institutions, such as Ohio State, who have gone through the experience of implementing Canvas after they've gone through the Workday implementation and to have them share their opinions and experiences.
 - o have the RFP process driven by Wendy Lampner's group since they are the experts on how the systems are working.
 - o work with Faculty Senate and CCTC to create an ad-hoc committee.
 - o Determine that any LMS system implementation will take, from start to finish, about 2 years with the RFP process taking about a year.

Action Items:

- John will reach out to Gartner to help weigh in on such items as significant differences between vendors, whether to focus on features or pricing, etc. (Gartner is a technology research organization that is not associated with any specific vendor. They just evaluate vendors and provide insights.)
- John will reach out to a couple of institutions that have recently moved to Canvas to see if he can get a copy of their RFP as well as their implementation plan and experiences. He will also reach out to Ohio State, who has integrated Canvas with Workday, for their experiences and thoughts.
- Sheau and/or Scott will communicate with the Chair of the Faculty Senate to give her a heads-up on creating an ad hoc committee for the selection of a LMS (current or new) system.

Classroom Technology Feedback Survey

Karima showed a draft of the survey announcement in the Digest. Suggestion was to have the first question in Qualtrics branch on whether student/faculty. The results of the survey can be downloaded into many formats including Excel. Anthony Serpette and Sheau would be great resources to answer any questions on how to compose the Qualtrics survey. Qualtrics is an Enterprise license and everyone should have access although an IT request may be needed.

Action items

- Karima will create a Qualtrics form and QR code and put the announcements in the Digest and Zipmail.
- John will have someone on his team contact Karima on inserting the announcement of the survey into MyAkron page.
